LEWISVILLE SCHOOL

FOREWORD

We hope that as you, our schoolmates, parents, and teachers leaf through the pages of this annual; it will reflect upon your minds the activities and interests of each person in our school. We hope we have preserved all the joys and sorrows which have been so dear to our hearts during our pleasant voyage over life's sea, and we trust that this La Ha Sa of 1954 will be among your cherished possessions.

GRADUATION

We launched our ship and set sail aright;
For twelve years we've had our goal in sight.
There have been storms upon the sea,
The times when everyone didn't agree—
But most times, like any friendly band,
We crossed the sea hand in hand.

Tonight we go ashore with banner unfurled,
To take our places with the rest of the world.
And as we strive to keep in pace,
We remember our training in search of our place.
Always we'll be reaching for the hights sublime,
When we fall in line in the march of time.

Sailing has been smoother with teachers by our side,
But we chart this trip whatever the tide,
Making it worth while, this life that we live.
The world will repay the things that we give.
In helping ourselves we make another's load lighter,
And this grand old earth just a little bit brighter.

CLASS HISTORY

Although that date in the early fall of '42 is not chalked up on the calendar as a redletter day, to fifty lively youngsters it marked their beginning on the journey up the road of wisdom and knowledge. Our elementary years consisted mostly of learning our readin', ritin', and rithmetic, playing games, and learning to co-operate with our classmates. At that time the traveling seemed difficult and tedious, but we soon learned this was only the beginning.

In the month of September the year of '50, sixty excited, adventurous students from eight grades of Vienna, Lewisville, and a few other schools registered as high school freshmen, with high hopes of filling senior shoes in '54. As freshmen the boys and the girls had separate homerooms, with Mr. McGirt supervising the boys and Miss Hicks leading the girls in their homeroom activities. Of course it would be impossible for the boys ever to forget the hamburger fries that year down at the Milestone's. Fox and hound races were the main events following the eats. The girl's side of the picture was not quite as exciting, as they stayed home and practiced their cooking and sewing hints they were learning in home economics.

During our Sophomore year we did our part in living up to the name bestowed upon us that year: The Wise Fools. During one of our English classes, we wrote a poem, entitled The Wise Fools, using the names of members of the class. This year the boys and girls were no longer separated and had Mr. Payne and Miss Voss as their homeroom teachers. Although we worked hard on our Biology, English, Home-Ec, Agriculture and other studies, there was still time for entertainment. The highlight of our social events and the longest to be remembered were the weiner roasts at Stanley Milestone's.

Little realizing what our Junior year held, fifty one courageous boys and girls appeared at the doors of L.H.S. seeking admittance as juniors. We were assigned to our homerooms with Miss Hawks and Miss Sarbaugh as our directors. First came the election of officers, they were: Rachel Jones, President; Betty Jean Sheets, Vice-President; Lois Watkins, Secretary; and Rex Jennings, Treasurer. A whirlwind of events followed with our play WAS THIS MURDER leading. Next we gathered in the library for the all-important event of choosing our class rings. The plans for the Junior-Senior Banquet proved to be quite a task; but, after much discussion and voting, we decided to have the banquet in our lunchroom. We chose as our theme the South Sea Islands. We will always cherish the happy memories which this event, the greatest of our Junior year, left with us. Remember, too, the good time we had at our Christmas party held at Peggy Doub's. Also don't forget the time our history class went to hear Eisenhower speak at the railway station. We had to park the bus at the city water works and walk the rest of the way. In the awards department this year the boys in Miss Hawks' homeroom won the intramural basketball trophy in the school. Rex Jennings was captain of the county basketball team and Frances Fulp went to the finals in the county speaking contest.

After a busy summer vacation we returned as sophisticated seniors to set sail for our destination. Our first business was the election of class officers, they are: President, Jimmy Luper, Vice-President, Joanne Harper, Secretary, Sue Lashmit, and Treasurer, Cecil Mock. We were all proud of Bob French and Lois Watkins when they were crowned king queen of the fall festival. This year the boys placed four on the varsity basketball team while the girls placed three. Also it pleased us very much to have Jimmy Luper chosen player-of-the-week in football. At Christmas time we are all invited to Rachel Jones' house for a party, which was enjoyed by all who attended. Some of the events we are eagerly anticipating are: Kid's day, our senior play, trip to Washington and the Junior Senior Banquet.

As we have been steadily striving to reach our goal—graduation, all along the way some of our classmates have transferred to other schools but we have also acquired new friends. Those joining us after we entered high school are: Bill Foster, Sylvia Pearce, Peggy Doub, and to brighten things up Leslie Sisk joined us in the twelfth grade.

At last the harbor is in sight and Graduation Day ends the voyage at L.H.S., but it is only the beginning of a new voyage. Though the ways we choose may lead us in all the directions of the seven seas, may we ever put our faith and trust in Him who created the seas and can calm the tempests on all waters.

PROPHECY

Well, here we are, ten years have slipped by since we graduated from dear old Lewisville, and it seems everyone is doing very well.

Wilburn Mabe who liked to duck hunt so well has succeeded in working out a plan by which he can hunt in the day time and make his living at night. He owns the new "Yadkin Riviera," a floating night club, on which we are now celebrating this very special ocasion. Of course everyone knows Betty Jean Sheets is the source of his success. It seems she finally got to go to Honolulu. While she was there she learned to do the Hula and is now entertaining for Wilburn's night club. If anyone remembers how inseparable Joanne Harper and Betty Sheets were during school you know they would have to continue on together, so Joanne is in charge of the music to all of Betty's dances. She also plays the piano for Wilburn't magnificent solos.

Dicky Slater who liked movies but disliked driving too far has opened up the "Do-Duck-In" drive-in theatre on Main Sareet here in Lewisville. Don't forget Max Bailey is the star in the picture this week. I guess you all know he took Lex Barker's place and is now playing in all the Tarzan roles.

Anna Mae Beroth, whose ambition was to be a medical secretary, fell in love with her bossman and is now living in New York. They have only four kids so far. It's wonderful she married a doctor, isn't it?

Stanley Milestone made so much money with his "Garbage Business" during his last year in High School that he decided to make it his life's profession. Let's all do our best to keep Lewisville clean.

After a period of training with the Arts and Crafts Institute in Chicago, Iris Marie Spaugh has graduated as one of their star pupils, and is now N. C. State Supervisor of Arts and Crafts.

Everybody was wondering about the eats for the get together but David Binkley, manager of the new Kroger Store, solved this mighty fast. The goods he couldn't get Fred Norman, who is president of the Colonial Stores, was more than happy to bring so everything is working out wonderfully.

Annie Lou Stewart worked in an insurance office for two years after graduation and is now running a nursery keeping all the kids belonging to Lewisville teachers.

Everybody is talking about Eugene Sain's "Polka Dot" cab company and I believe the reason they like his service so well is because all of his Cadillacs are purple with yellow polka-dots.

Peggy Doub's experience with the school annual proved to be very helpful as she is now an interior decorator and an artist on the side. Boy's you know who is making the money now!

Look out! Here comes Bill Foster, "The World's Fastest Farmer." He set an all-time record with his new Ford tractor. Bill says most farmers lose money because they move so slowly from job to job, so he eliminated this by "souping up" his tractor so it will do 68 miles per hour. Please do not get in his way, because he doesn't let any grass grow under his fet.

It seems that Sue Lashmit is doing very well since she and Bill Hoffman got married. While Bill is serving his time in the navy, Sue looks after the farm. Keep it up, Sue, so it won't look rundown when Bill gets back.

What's that I hear coming down the road? Oh, that's Henry Yarbrough. In case you don't know Henry has taken over Yarbrough Transfer and now has trucks covering all parts of the U. S. and part of Canada. Any moving? Just notify him.

Lois Watkins never said anything much during her years at old L.H.S., but she can really make an organ talk since college days. I understand next year she is going to play at graduation exercises at Lewisville.

And now if everyone will be really quiet, we may be able to watch and hear David Fulton and Nellie Hege on Television. They liked to sing so well and had so much rhythm in their bones, that they got together and really make a wonderful team.

At last R. J. Reynolds is putting out a filtered tip cigarette. Of course this is made especially for women, and I know you couldn't guess who's doing the testing of these cigarettes. Well since you have to know I'll tell you. Barbara Yow and Betty Kimmons just couldn't stand to be separated so Reynolds hired both of them to perform this fascinating test.

During summer vacations back in the old school days Jimmy Luper worked in a grocery store. He must have observed very carefully every operation because I was riding through Pfafftown the other day and saw his and Eddie Beroth's grocery store. Eddie supplies all the fresh vegetables and eggs from his "Dusty Roads" Farm while Jimmy stays in the store. They are doing a good business and employ Vienna residents.

No doubt you have all noticed the huge steel structure right in front of Lewisville Methodist Church. Well, don't be amazed at that, it is only Mary Frances Fulp and Sam Harper's Chewing Gum Factory. They plan to manufacture all flavors or regular chewing gum plus the new elasticated Bubble Gum. If everything goes through all right they will hire approximately one hundred and fifty people.

I know Raymond Holder is a happy-go-lucky fellow these days. He doesn't have to run from the State Patrolman anymore, because he decided to be one himself. So all boys who have hotrods around Lewisville, Vienna, and Clemmons had better be careful.

Mildred Black has reached the height of her ambition in shorthand and is now recorder of the Lewisville Superior Court under the Honorable Judge Cecil Gladstone Mock.

Rachel Jones experimented on her hair all during her school days and decided one head wasn't enough to work on so she has opened up her own Beauty Salon on the Lewisville-Clemmons Road. Business has grown so that she has hired Peggie Lee Redding to help her. I assure you that one couldn't do without the other anyway. This makes it very convenient for the girls as they can catch up on all the gossip while they work.

The side walks in Lewisville have been quite a problem up to now, but thanks to Mayor Rex Jennings we have them fixed, and everything is really going fine. We have won the Community Improvement award for the past five years so I believe we have the right man for the Mayor's office.

Well at last Ruth Fulp has settled down a little. She is an airplane hostess and when she gets off the ground about all she can stand is to do her regular work and leave off the picking.

Attention: All drivers mind how you park and be sure you watch your parking meters, because Edith Huffman and Bernice Beauchamp are policewomen now. I understand they get a commission on all above ten dollars a day, so beware.

Ray Jones must have discovered a gold mine or a rich uncle died, because he has bought approximately one thousand acres of land around and adjoining Muddy Creek. He plans to make a State Park and is hiring Bob French, the heroic young man who rescued one of his classmates during school, to be a lifeguard. Now I know where all the girls will stay! Don't forget, Bob, your job is to watch everyone, not just the girls around your umbrella.

Who are they in the Wac uniforms? Oh, they are Elizabeth Hutchins and Geraldine Campbell. They couldn't wait any longer for their boy friends who were in service, so they decided to join the Wac's to pass the time away. They plan to have a double-wedding as soon as they get a discharge.

Tuberose Snuff sales have more than doubled since Sylvia Pearce, the convincing radio announcer, has started advertising for them over all leading networks.

Thomas Butner is now running Gwyn Clodfelter's filling station at the intersection of Robin Hood and the Lewisville-Vienna Road. Gwyn has inherited a farm in Yadkin County and decided that he couldn't tend to his crops and run the station at the same time. Boys, maybe you had better put a stop light there so people will slow down a little instead of running into the building.

The kids at school are very well pleased with the food in the cafeteria now a days. Barbara Brewer is chief cook and Frances Sheets is the Dietician for all the schools in the county. Barbara says it is very simple to have good meals, with Frances keeping her supplied with only the best foods money can buy.

Don Craft is now working for the Lewisville City Ordinance Department. He keeps all the streets clean, so watch how you drive so you won't run over him and his little cart.

Sarah Stafford got back just in time for the reunion. She is a missionary in the southern tip of Africa.

I am sure everyone enjoys Leslie Sisk's new comic strip in the Winston-Salem Sentinel. He is now refreshing our minds on how we got along in Mrs. Southern's English class. Don't show all of our actions, Leslie, because someone might think we didn't behave the best we know how.

Martha Thomas is quite a busy girl in Hollywood. She has caused a lot of confusion, though, because the producers have a hard time deciding whether to use Martha or Marilyn Monroe.

With the population increasing at such a rapid rate, the need for a larger post office soon got to be quite a problem. Now that has been settled and they have moved into the new brick building where the old one used to stand. Bobby Herman is the new Postmaster, so now I guess he will get all of his letters from Carolyn, firsthand.

Lillian Faircloth and her husband have opened up the new A.&P. store in the Jennings' Building and have so much business they are thinking about opening up a new branch.

And as for myself, I haven't found a job yet, but don't worry, I think I will soon find something to do. Meanwhile, don't forget to drop a coin or two in my cup at the corner of First and Main Street here in Lewisville.

"The Prophet of '54"

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the 1954 Senior Class of Lewisville High School, being of sound mind and body, do hereby make and declare this document to be our Last Will and Testament.

Wilburn Mabe wills his job as being the only boy to reach the transom without much effort to Fred Herman, who will need only two chairs and great effort. Don't break your neck, Fred. To prevent this, Harold Lee Spaugh is appointed to hold things steady.

Max Bailey wills Edgar Miller all those days he wanted to go fishing and didn't get to. Max, may we presume that 180 was the number?

Mary Frances Fulp would like to leave (with regrets) her cheerleading outfit and the cheery smile that goes along with it to Neal Harper. I hope you won't mind if a few changes are made beforehand, Neal. To Dell Pfaff goes her job as Testator and the imagination she didn't have. Do a better job than I, Dell.

The "jack-of-all-trades" gal, Peggy Doub, bows out of the senior limelight as Jo Anne Craft and Betty Hester step gracefully in. With that name, plus singing ability, you girls ought to really go places. See you on T. V.

Sarah Stafford, an ardent lover of "Shakespeare" and "Beowulf" bestows upon Lillian Tester the "knack" of learning and understanding them without "brain-racking." Explain this one, Lillian. "To be or not to be."

To Ruth Dalton, John Craft wills his position as president of the Student Council plus that terrific personality of his. With these two desirable things, show them what a lady president can do, Ruth.

Eddie Beroth, who just looks like he's enjoying himself all the time in spite of that never-ending crave for "some more of them big orange dranks," wants J. D. Brewer to share part of his carefree nature. We'll leave it to you not to go "out of bounds" with it J. D.!

How would you like to be a queen, Shirley Messer? Lois Watkins leaves you her Fall Festival title plus the "queenly" appearance she herself is endowed with. What gift could be nicer, Shirley?

Leslie Sisk has willed his "lovely place in Mrs. Southern's heart" to Fred Mock. Fred, it seems your "lovely place" has already been reserved.

Upon you Eleanor Dalton and Helen Marie Lyerly, Elizabeth Hutchins bestows her gift of patience, however, having to wait on her soldier-boyfriend takes part of it. Think you will need this gift, gals?

Need any tips on romance? Our senior romeo, Rex Jennings, who has an over-abundance of romantical knowledge, wills Gail Cornelius a portion of it. Write it all down, Gail, and we'll be watching for the first publication. It should be a "best seller."

Barbara Yow and Betty Kimmons, that inseparable pair, would like for Karlene McBride and Geraldine Rupard to make good use of those "gab sessions" they are willing to them. Don't "gab" yourselves into lunch period study hall, girls.

In order to get some of that "call of the wild" out of his system, Stanley Milestone bequeaths that adventurous nature of his to Jack Messer. Borrow Stanley's map, buy yourself an A-model and be on your way Jack, but don't forget to drop back by and tell us all about the gold mines I think you're going to discover. How about you going along to fight off those "scalp-hunting" Indians, Bill Slater?

Report cards for teachers? That idea sounds very appetizing to Rachel Jones and Peggie Redding, who probably agree that a few might be "moving on" if that were the case. This idea they would like to pass on to Lou Ann McKinney and Patsy Roberson, Stock up on red pencils girls! I have a feeling there'll be some "red letter days" ahead.

"Why, Mrs. Southern, you know I wouldn't do a thing like that" are familiar words coming from Don Craft whose comical antics and hilarious "muscle-straining" faces, daily have the class in peals of laughter. From Don to Robert Dalton goes that nonchalant way he has of looking innocently around the room as though nothing had happened, and of squirming out of every such a situation. Think you can do it so convincingly, Robert?

Barbara Brewer leaves that "magic wand" she used in catching a man and holding him to Peggy Edwards. Just be sure the "magic wand" doesn't turn into a rolling pen later on, Barbara.

Key Club President, David Fulton, possesses such an unusual amount of poise and dignity that he is willing to leave the largest portion of them, and his office, to Nelson Huffman. Do-Dad, I suppose we'll have to start calling you "Mr. Huffman" with these distinguishing features, won't we?

Annie Lou Stewart and Mildred Black seem to have that "magic touch" at the typewriter keyboard. This ability they would like to will to Doris Phillips and Rachel Sowers. Go to town, girls?

Sam Harper kept a generous supply of chewing gum on hand most of the time for those of us who couldn't "think well" without it. We're sorry the trash can was the recipient of it so soon Sam, but some of us haven't learned to chew without moving our jaws yet. Such generosity is being willed to Dot Hensley—on one condition Dot—that you hold classes teaching "The Art of Chewing Gum." Johnny Johnson, Eugene Sain wills you the honor of following behind Dot with the trash can.

Gwyn Clodfelter, a fervent sports fan, will his usual seat in the peanut gallery to Barney Shore. Hope to hear a lot of hollering from your corner, Barney!

Speaking of seats, Ruth Fulp requests that Paige Jones be left her place on the basket ball bench. I'm sure the spectators won't mind if you just sit and look pretty, Paige.

"Will the meeting please come to order!" are familiar words spoken by Jimmy Luper, senior class president. To W. S. Reich he wills this job and the many desperate moments he had trying to keep order. Hope you can do as good a job as Jimmy, W. S.

Joanne Harper's gentle and serene nature makes her unmistakably a charming person. These characteristics are left to a mighty lucky girl, Jo Anne Needham. Look at these Joanne's stick together would you?

Henry Yarbrough, who seems to know just what to say at just the right time to make it amusing wills this ability to Monroe Jones. I believe we'll have a different Monroe, next year!

Anna Mae Beroth has a certain way of moving around and getting things done in a hurry and she bestows it upon Patricia Spease. Now you can be top stenographer, Patricia.

Bobby Herman likes the "noble" task of carrying another party's books so well, that he wants J. E. Shepherd to try it out. If you really want to be envied for such noble deeds J. E., remember that story about the coat and the mud puddle!

Edith Huffman wills her love of those "disc jockey" programs to Harriet Gilyard. Keep feeding "Off The Record" those requests Harriet and don't forget to have one dedicating "After Graduation Day" to us dear departing seniors.

Who is this gal who draws so many wolf whistles? Why, cute Martha Thomas of course! The ability to do this goes to Audrey Kinney who seems to be doing pretty well by herself. Am I right Audrey?

Silence! Genius at work! Cecil Mock, who is a whiz when it comes to Geometry, wills his knack of sailing right through it to Sam Headen. You'll have no trouble at all making A's on it now, Sam.

The "Gift of Gab" which very few people possess goes from Sylvia Pearce and Frances Sheets to Ronnie Beauchamp and David Todd with the hope that you will use it to the best advantage. Take their advice boys, "the less you say, the less times you'll have to pull your feet out of your mouths.

Betty Sheets, who takes to Spanish like a duck does to water wills all those exams she sailed through to John Hancock and Peyton Foster. Think they will do to use next year, boys?

To "tinker" with cars is Raymond Holder's and Thomas Butner's favorite pasttime and they think James Pegram and Floyd Mock might like to have this willed to them. Stand back a minute boys, let's see if grease is becoming to you!

From Bob French to Buddy Redding goes that love of "bright" colors he has with a tendency to apply them to his head. Buddy we hope you will use them in a more practical way, like advertising for the senior play.

Bill Foster and Ray Jones want to will all those 4-H accomplishments and awards to Charlie Hicks and Bobby Ketner, hoping they will be as successful on the farm as they are.

Geraldine Campbell, who makes it a daily habit of barely catching the school bus "in the nick of time," wills her "slowness" to Betty Whitman. Have your toothbrush lying ready with your books, Betty, for you'll have to run for the bus and finish at school like Geraldine.

Lillian Black Faircloth and Roxie Stewart Foster already seem to have something in common since they have caught their man and got them for good, but Lillian wants Roxie to have some of that extra time she never had, to get a lot more things done around the house.

Fred Norman and Dicky Slater, who were so gallant on the football field before their injuries took them off, will those terrific playing techniques to W. G. Bodsford and Spencer Greene. With what know-how you already have boys, you should be our foremost football stars next year.

Speaking of football, Iris Spaugh and Sue Lashmit got such a "kick" out of watching the comedians at the old Richmond games that they hope Billy Millsap and W. A. Norman will take the hint and deck out in wildcat "garb" to entertain us at all the games.

Nellie wills that "invisible hot-rod" she wished she could have had those days she "wasn't exactly in school" to Marie Reed. You probably won't accept something you can't see, will you, Marie? On second thought, you might, since Nellie willed it.

To the rising senior class, we leave our most prized possession, the honor of being called "seniors," and all the privileges that go with that name.

To the sophomores, we leave our "worn out" books and the studious nature which seemed to follow us around but never quite caught up with us.

Upon the shoulders of the Freshman class, we place our cloak of fortitude, which may have been silghtly treadbare at times because of our own neglect, but which was woven beautifully back by the invisible hands of kindness, understanding, and encouragement.

To all our grade teachers ,we leave the privilege of having known and taught such fine specimens of humanity, and hope that by their efforts another production of such is on its way up.

To our high school faculty: Miss Bolick, Miss Gibbs, Mr. Pratt, Mrs. Stokes, Mrs. Southern, Mr. and Mrs. McGirt, Mr. Billings, Mr. Foil, Mr. Bridges, Mrs. Corpening, Mr. Rae, and Miss Sarbaugh, we leave our superabundance of intelligence we were so modest about revealing and hope they will divide it among the less fortunate.

To our principal, Mr. Simpson, goes the fifty unuttered, but humble "thank-yous" for going far beyond the requirements of his position to be a real friend and companion to us when we needed one most. Thank you, Mr. Simpson, for just being "you."

To Mrs. Bowers, our homeroom teacher, goes the unexpressable gratitude that is in our hearts for her "motherliness," her ever abiding faith and confidence in us, and that beam of approval she showered upon us even at times when we deserved a frown of disapproval. We esteem you highly, Mrs. Bowers, for setting such a wonderful example before us.

And now, as the end of our unforgettable days at the old "alma mater" begins to settle over us like the sunset after a contented and well spent day, we hear once again the distant strains of our beloved school song as we drift silently over the unexplored horizon, each taking his own separate path. May we set our pattern of life by the Golden Rule and so live that when we ask ourselves this question, "what kind of place would this world be; if each person in it were just like me"? we can smile and keep striving for a still better tomorrow.

Requested by the 1954 Senior Class, this will was signed, sealed, and published on the twenty-eighth day of May in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and fifty-four.

MARY FRANCES FULP,
Testator

Lewisville Club Hampered By Injuries to Regulars

for three weeks.

"We really wanted to beat Old Town," said Jimmy in trying to explain how it was that the Wildcats were so sharp against their cross-county rivals. "We practiced until dark every day and everyone really wanted to win that game."

Luper was disappointed over losing and also over the fact that he dropped "a sure touchdown pass." He caught several others but they didn't seem to matter to him.

Coach Vance McGirt praised Luper's defensive play. "He really gave Old Town a hard time," said McGirt. "He hit hard and was in there on just about every play."

Even with the Old Town game past, Luper still has his mind on football. His dad tried to talk him into taking a week off for a fishing trip to the coast, but Jimmy said, "No thanks, I have a football game with South Fork this week." So Luper Sr. had to go fishing without Luper Jr.

Jimmy hopes to go to State College next year and study engineering. His top sports thrill came when he caught a pass for a touchdown his first season in football. He doesn't even remember what team Lewisville was playing.

A second baseman, Luper once pulled the very unusual stunt of getting knocked out covering first base. Worth Seats was pitching the first year that Luper made the Lewisville nine. Seats wasn't too good about covering first base and when Jimmy saw the first baseman pulled off the bag, he raced from second to cover the play. He and the opposing runner hit the bag head on at the same time. One went one way and the other in the opposite direction. The coaches agreed that when the boys came to they could both go back in the game if they felt like it, but neither one of them did.

John Hancock, John Bazemore and Nelson Huffman shared in top honors for Lewisville. The three boys handled the very formidable passing attack that Lewisville showed against Old Town.

"They really gave us a hard time on it," said Coach V
Harris of Old T
Jac

inger.
outstanding for ork in their win over
Clemmons last week. West intercepted a pass and scored one touchdown. He scored again on a 20-yard run and he threw a pass for an extra point.

Alton Clinard led the play for Clemmons as the Blues played another good game.

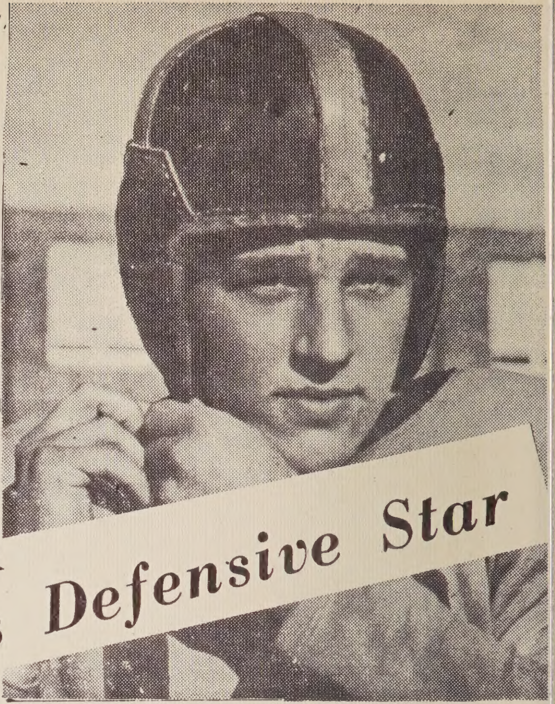
W. G. Bodsford, Lewisville end, certainly did get in the way a lot last Friday night against Rural Hall.

On Rural Hall's first running play, there was a backfield mix-up and a fumble. Bodsford moved into the midst of things and recovered the ball. That led to Lewisville's first touchdown.

Later, Rural Hall tried a pass and Bodsford was in the way again. This time he intercepted the toss and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. He played all but the last couple of minutes of the game and made

For the first game, Lewisville had three ends, Bodsford, Dickie Slater and Jimmy Luper, but Luper was injured and now Bodsford and Slater have to do almost full-time duty.

He plays on both offense and defense, likes either one, and he also does the team's kicking. Friday night was the first time that Bodsford had ever scored a touchdown and it was a mighty big thrill for the youngster.



He's Player-of-Week
Luper Is Defensive Star

DEFENSIVE STAR Jimmy Luper did a fine job in the six-man football game between Lewisville and Old Town last week. Old Town won the game but Luper led his Lewisville teammates on defense to win six-man football player-of-the-week honors.

Lewisville High's basketball hopes ride on a crop of injured ankles and knees. There's little doubt the Wildcats have the boys to be a top contender or even a champion. The only difficulty seems to be that Coach Moses Bridges can't glue and tape them together enough.

Just about every player on the team has been slowed down with some type of injury and one of the sure shots from outside, Stan Milestone, has seen very little action.

But the Lewisville boys are confident that once they get their injuries beaten, they can take some definite steps toward beating more Class A opponents.

"We have a pretty good club this year," says Nelson Huffman. Rex Jennings rates it as even better than last season.

Speed is the big asset of the Lewisville team. Opponents have to be fast on the draw to stay with the Wildcats.

"But," adds Jennings, "that speed isn't much help on the nights when we can't hit."

The ability to hit is one big worry for the Lewisville team. "We lost to Glenn," explains Jennings, "and you've heard of one or two players on a team having a bad night. Well, that night all of us were off."

Off or on though, Lewisville has some of the top scorers in the county. In the six pre-holiday games, Jennings scored 99 points while Huffman had 89 in the six contests. And these two boys were both hampered by injuries and did not play anywhere near full time. The Lewisville team ran up 89 points against Rural Hall, though the reserves played half the game. They have scored 341 points in the six games played so far, an average of over 56 points a game.

Defensively speaking, the team has played good ball too, losing only to Glenn. The Bobcats scored 54 points against them, the most any team has made.

Milestone may be able to rejoin the club after Christmas. If he does he'll team with Kenneth Hauser as good outside shot-makers.

W. G. Bodsford, another veteran, is a fine rebounder and good all-around man. Monroe Jones, Walker Redding, David Todd, J. E. Shepherd, Henry Pierce, Don Craft, Allan Harbin, Richard Harper, Reece Kirkman and Fred Norman are the other squad members.

Lewisville plays again on Jan. 5, when the Wildcats meet Walkertown in a nonconference contest. Then Lewisville invades Old Richmond for a Class A game. Affter that they meet their top rivals from South Fork and then take on Kernersville.

Alreaddy tied with Glenn for the lead in the Class A race, Lewisville has high hopes of getting in front to stay. They may do it too, if all the players stay in one piece.

Rex Jennings and Nelson Huffman were the top performers for Lewisville in their close victory over Kernersville Tuesday night. The teams were deadlocked right up to the closing minutes.

Lewisville, Glenn Boys Are Favored

Glenn and Lewisville boys will be favored in high school basketball games to be played tonight.

Glenn will invade Rural Hall fo two games. Lewisville will be a Clemmons. Both games ar headers with the gir ing at 7:30 p.m.

LEWISVILLE

To Moses Bridges and McGirt
Please bring a magic cure for hurts.
So Lewisville stars won't have to play
In yards of bandage every day.
But maybe they could not compete
Without their tapeing job so neat.

Bodsford is one of Lewisville' best pass receivers. He caugh one against Rural Hall with mos of the team hanging on him.

Back Nelson Huffman als played well for Lewisville and re ceived le mention for hi against Rural Hall was another stand for the winning team.
